

4. The 1-pound Wedding

Weddings are usually expensive, but a couple from Scotland has proven that you can get married on a tight budget. Georgina Porteous and Sid Innes spent only 1 pound on their big day. They didn't have to pay for the venue, a barn behind their house. An aunt made the cake and the guests brought their own picnic. The groom wore a suit he had bought years before and the bride bought her second-hand vintage dress online for a pound. The couple chose this type of wedding as part of a self-sufficient life-style. It was a huge saving if you consider that the average wedding in Britain costs 20,000 pounds.

1. The text says that Georgina Porteous and Sid Innes
 - A. were poor.
 - B. didn't prepare any food.
 - C. made the cake.

5. Presents for the President

Buying gifts can be tricky at the best of times, but what do you buy when the U.S. president comes to visit? Barack Obama has released a list of gifts received by his family from World Leaders in 2011. The list includes a description of each gift, an estimate of its value and the reason for accepting, which was usually to avoid causing embarrassment. The most expensive present was a blue mask sculpture in a red box, given by the president of the tiny West African country, Gabon. It is worth over $52,000. Other gifts include rare football jerseys from Australia and Brazil, a Maori weapon from New Zealand, golf clubs given by Angela Merkel and loads of French designer gear from French president Sarkozy. British prime minister, David Cameron even threw in a Union Jack chew toy for the Obamas' dog.

1. Barack Obama
 - A. was given a toy,
 - B. was given $52,000.
 - C. told the public how much each of the gifts was worth.
2. The gifts mentioned in the text
 - A. were given in 2011.

- B. were not accepted by Barack
- C. made Barack Obama feel ang

6. Wear the Same Shirt for 100

If you can't stand ironing, there's a shirt that you can wear 100 times made of a type of wool that doesn't require a company used a group of testers to test it and working out. However, it always crumpled his up and left it in his closet. It's not exactly cheap, but just think about the reduction in your laundry expense.

1. The shirts mentioned in the text
 - A. can't be ironed.
 - B. don't smell bad for a long time.
 - C. are pretty cheap.
2. The group of testers
 - A. went to clubs with the shirts
 - B. ironed the shirts after 100 days
 - C. bought the shirts for less than $100

Przeczytaj poniższe teksty, z których 1.-2. lub 1.-3. litery, którymi oznaczysz otrzymaną logiczną i spójną tekst.

Uwaga: Jedno zdanie zostało pominięte.

7. Introducing the iPotty.

Digital technology is entering the toilet age. 1. _____ Now, an American pediatrician recommends avoiding screen time for the next app might be aimed at new